Celebrating the many ways to be Jewish

The Bulletin

September 2016 – Av ~ Elul 5776

From the Rabbi...

Greetings, dear friends!

We think of summer as a time to reconnect with family and friends, have a bit of a break from academic year routines, visit vacation locales near and far, and take everything at a slower pace. I hope each one of you has set aside some time for rest, peace, and rejuvenation during these summer months, and that you are feeling ready to shift into the beauties and blessings of autumn.

As we begin our transition out of vacation mode, we might reflect on the opportunities and obligations before us. Perhaps we'll consider those projects we haven't quite finished (or perhaps begun), start the wardrobe turnover in our closets and drawers as the weather begins to cool, and, if our children or our work are tied to academic year calendars, become excited, and maybe a bit nervous, about the year ahead.

So, too, do we refocus our spiritual selves at this time of year. In just a couple of weeks, the Hebrew month of Elul, the 12th month in the Jewish calendar, will begin with the sliver of a new moon in the sky. Once again, I urge you to use the days of Elul to spiritually prepare yourself for the New Year, which will begin at the new moon of Tishrei, in the evening of October 2nd. A couple of resources:

Jewelsofelul.com – sign up to receive a daily reading, lesson, or meditation

Doyou10Q.com – visit this site for a new question each day during the Ten Days of Awe – you'll be able to review the answers you provide this year at this time next year.

If you use these resources, kindly drop me a note to share your experience with them.

I'm excited to share with you new programs in adult and family education, unique services, and a brand new High Holy Day prayerbook, and to revisit beloved traditions of TEMV as well. As ever, I welcome your feedback (positive and critical), and look forward to another year of building, growing, and connecting with our wonderful community.

Hope to see many of you soon, at our August 28 Open House, September 11 first day of school, one of our welcoming September services, or another of the community programs coming up this fall.

L'shalom,
Rabbi Robin S. Sparr

TEMV is:

- Sustaining for everyone, during both joyful and challenging times.
- Interfaith-friendly and welcoming to all.
- Musical, celebratory, and reflective in our worship.
- Communicating Jewish values through education for children and adults.
- Honoring diversity without judgment.
- Active in working towards social justice in our community and around the world.

Presidents' Message

Dear TEMV Community

Hope you all are well and are enjoying the incredibly warm summer. I have been away for most of it and miss seeing folks each Friday. I do love this time of year. With High Holy Days not until October, this summer just feels that much longer to me.

Despite all of us being in the summer mode, A LOT has happened at TEMV since we all met 2 months ago to discuss the future of our building. By the time you read this, our parking lot will be paved and our back deck painted. The board of trustees has received the initial plans from the architect revitalizing our entry way making it a more inviting and welcoming space.

We have approved a temporary solution to improve access to the sanctuary for those who are physically challenged by our stairs. We hope to have a chair lift installed, pending approval by the Building Commissioner, for the Holy Days. Thank you Harriet Snyder for researching the possibilities. Work is also being done, by Michelle Vlamis and Frank Baskin, to apply for assistance to help with our capitol campaign and newly appointed board member, Doug Wiggins, is following up on the steps to establish an endowment fund for the Temple. And that's not all....

Trustee, Dana Rudolph, has taken on TEMV publicity, and along with the Board, developed a "tag line" to describe our community— "Temple Emanuel—Celebrating the Many Ways to be Jewish" which will be prominent on our outreach materials along with a more detailed description of what makes our temple unique and appealing. A new temple website, thanks to Dana, is soon to be launched as well.

On the school front, the board has approved a significantly reduced fee for the initial year of religious school for children K-2. Please reach out to those families you know that may have an interest and would benefit from the enriching experience we offer in our school.

We have had at least 4 new member families join over the summer and I cannot stress enough, that is it incumbent on ALL of us to invite friends and family to check us out. It's a good chance once a visitor spends time here, whether at services or any other temple activity, they will become part of the community. Please do your part to make this happen this year—a crucial year, in which growing membership is essential for our long term viability.

My head is spinning a bit as I write this and wonder how you feel reading it!

Excited? overwhelmed? exhilarated? or something else? Feel free to let me know president@temv.org . Each one of us, together, can create the best future for TEMV.

Shalom and many blessings,

Stephanie

PS Major thank yous to Marylin Gallant, her husband Lee and Blake Voss, for prepping the parking lot for paving. Not an easy job! And to the Papps for painting the back deck. You all are the best.

Flea Market Success

On July 24, the first flea market was held at TEMV. Most of the vendors were temple members, but not all. The buyers came early, expecting bargains, and they left with armloads of them

The expected temple revenue was much lower than the yard sales have brought in previously, but our flea market brought in around $700.00 Not too bad for our first try

Feedback is welcome and will be considered when deciding what sort of fundraiser to have next summer. If you want to submit something, please send an email to yardsale@temv.org.

Enjoy the rest of the summer,
Marylin and Sue

Yizkor Book of Remembrance

TEMV has a Yom Kippur tradition of honoring our loved ones. The Remembrance Book is a chance to be more reflective during the High Holidays because it reminds us of our connections to people who have touched our lives and are no longer with us. You will be able to take the booklet home following Yom Kippur Services as a lasting expression of those memories.

Clearly print the names and the exact wording of how you want them remembered. The default wording is

Remembered by The XXX Family

The suggested donation is $5 per name. If this causes a hardship for you, please give what you feel you can.

Ritual Committee

What exactly is ritual [rich-oo-uh l]?

According to www.dictionary.com ritual is

1. An established or prescribed procedure for a religious or other rite.
2. A system or collection of religious or other rites.
3. Observance of set forms in public worship.

At TEMV, the Ritual Committee organizes and supports the practice of worship and the before and after worship gatherings. The committee meets approximately every 6 weeks to ensure that that our services and activities before and after the services run smoothly. We coordinate our community volunteers that provide food for our oneg Shabbat gatherings, and coordinate and prepare members of the community to participate in and lead services. We work closely with Rabbi Sparr, as she shapes our services to ensure the services reflect our current ideals as well as honoring our long-held traditions. Last year we held 2 early Shabbat services at 6:30 with wine and cheese before and dinner as a group afterwards. Based on feedback, we will be having more of these this upcoming year. This is just an example of how your voice helps create our new world.

Our next meeting is August 29th at 7pm at TEMV. Please come join us as we plan for the upcoming season of Holy Days and holiday celebrations. There are opportunities for year-long commitments and one time tasks that need to be done. If you can't make the meeting, but would like to help, please contact ritualchair@temv.org

Publicity Corner

TEMV's New and Improved Website

We have a new website! It's at the same location, www.temv.org, but has a new look and organization. We hope it helps both members and non-members learn more about what makes TEMV special, find out what services and events are coming up, and discover new ways to get involved. Our News section in particular will be a dynamic area with regular posts about TEMV happenings (and perhaps an occasional recipe).

As with much from our Jewish heritage, the website is an ongoing project of writing, arranging, and editing. We will continue updating and adding information throughout the site in the coming weeks. If there's something you'd like to see there, please let us know by writing to publicity@temv.org.

Don't forget to Like us on Facebook and follow us on Twitter if that's where you hang out online. We'll be pushing content from our website onto social media so you'll be able to keep current with what's going on at TEMV and how you can be a part.

Religious School Notes

Shalom! I hope all of our school children and their parents have enjoyed a fun, relaxing, and rejuvenating summer!

I'm very much looking forward to welcoming everyone back on our first day of school, Sunday, September 11, at 10:00am.

This year, we will be welcoming some new students and staff, and will also be exploring different ways of "doing" Jewish education.

School schedule: Sunday school will still begin at 10:00am, but will end a bit earlier, at 12:00 noon. As we tighten up our curriculum and daily schedule, I'm confident we will not lose any valuable learning time. Also, while we will convene on 25 Sundays, as we did last year, we will also be dedicating approximately one of those Sundays each month to alternative experiential programming and learning opportunities, such as field trips, holiday celebrations, social events and family education.

Curriculum: Our curriculum makeover last year was very successful, and we'll continue to follow and expand the curriculum we've developed.

Services: Families and students will continue to be welcome at ALL services, but we will be adding 5 or so Shabbat services specifically geared for our school-age families. These will be a bit shorter (45-50 minutes) and will provide opportunities for student and family participation.

A school calendar will be sent out shortly; in the meantime, please feel free to be in touch with any questions, comments or concerns you might wish to share. I very much look forward to seeing and reconnecting with every one of you soon!

L'shalom,

It's a Dirty Job

On Sunday, August 7, Blake Voss and Lee and Marylin Gallant headed to Temple Emanuel's parking lot to clean out the dirt and weeds in the cracks. Some have said they didn't know there were so many cracks in the asphalt, but we three know better. It seemed that most of the dirt ended up on all three of us, from our scalps to our feet.

By TEMV's open house, August 28, the parking lot will be smooth and parking lines will be clearly visible.

Power washing the parking lot was a very time-consuming and dirty job, but someone had to do it, and we're very glad it's done.

Bridge Club ??

Are you interested in learning bridge from an experienced tournament player? Alan Wolff can teach you? If there's enough interest we'll have a Bridge game at the temple. Contact Alan at bridge@temv.org. Let him know your availability and your level of experience. Times and dates will be determined by best fit of those who have expressed an interest.

What would you like to do?

Is there something that you are interested in doing with your TEMV friends socially either at the temple or as an outing? Go for it. Check the temple calendar, to avoid a conflict. Pick a date, time and location, agree to coordinate and send Phebe an email with the details so it can be sent community in the next "What's Happening" email blast, and be added to the website. It can be a one time event or an ongoing event. Some suggestions I've heard include: movie,, dinner, theater, bowling, coffee house, Trip to NYC, Boston Harbor Sunset Cruise, Sunday Brunch
